

I use the XM traffic and weather broadcast during travel in the cities broadcast and while driving to my local airport in preparation to fly to these cities.

The FCC should not limit my access to the improved information supplied by XM radio to protect and support the few who provide a much inferior product. I have the right to select the better product and have!

I do not normally participate in this type of response request but feel I must in this case. The few people who control and make money by this control cannot stand my freedom to select what and how I select to spend my money. Thus, lowering their rating and what they can charge for advertising.

Yes, I can always choose to turn them off and have for a better product

Thanks for protecting my rights

Steve Corbin